

Irish Language School Sydney Scoil na Gaeilge Sydney

Press release 20 May 2013

A full house for the opening of Sydney's Irish Language weekend - Scoil Gheimhridh Sydney

His Excellency Noel White the Ambassador of Ireland to Australia will officially open the Scoil Gheimhridh Sydney on the evening of 7 June.

Professor Anders Ahlqvist, Sir Warwick Fairfax Professor of Celtic Studies, University of Sydney, will then address attendees.

The Scoil Gheimhridh is Sydney's Winter school, a live-in weekend of Irish language and craic in the inner Sydney suburb of Kensington. Lessons, quiz, games, debate, guest speakers, concert, Mass in Irish and late-night sessions all help learners and speakers to improve their Irish.

The Irish Department of Foreign Affairs' Emigrant Support Program, the Irish National Association of Australasia and Muiris Ó Súilleabháin provide financial support for the annual Winter School.

Those with an interest in the Irish language are welcome on the evening or for the weekend. Inquiries please call Éilis on 0424 718 538.

Contact: Éilis Hurst, +61 424 718 538.

www.IrishLanguageSchoolSydney.org.au